6. According to Federal regulations, institutions are no longer required to monitor non-need based earnings. That is Regular Student Employment will not be considered as a resource for purposed of packaging Financial Aid. As a result, any student who has been awarded campus based aid will be allowed to work under Regular Student Employment. Students must, however report the earnings when applying for Financial Aid for the next academic year.
7. Students are normally limited to 8.0 hours per day and 40.0 hours per week. However, departments should review the student's class schedule and together with the student, develop a proper work schedule. Most departments have their students work only 15-20 hours per week.
